GOODBYE ESKOM! GOODBYE LOADSHEDDING!

The Orlando Municipal council have partnered with a company called Liphezulu Enterprises that specialises in Renewable energy solutions. Installing Solar Energy for households. Now Soweto residents can install Solar panels and go off grid at reasonable prices.

RENEWABLE ENERGY IN SOUTH AFRICA

Until a few years ago solar panels were a rare sight in South Africa, largely limited to the roofs of a few affluent households. This is changing rapidly, driven by three factors: the worldwide drive towards renewable energy, a highly strained local electricity supply, and a steady drop in solar panel prices. Taking the lead from other countries, South Africa committed to an energy generation infrastructure development plan for 2010 to 2030, known as the Integrated Resource Plan.

Under the plan the country aims to achieve 9600 MW of solar power capacity by 2030. When the plan was drawn up in 2010, solar was limited to a few isolated panels on domestic rooftops, and until recently contributed nothing to the national power grid operated by the state-owned utility Eskom.

But that is changing.

AFRIKAN CALENDAR

AFRIKAN NEWS

KEMET/AFRIKAN ROYAL CALENDAR

Kemet means black and refers to the land of Afrikan people. We call this calendar the royal calendar because it was created before the colonial era, when Afrika was ruled by kingdoms.

Our “Zep Tepi” the first time, is calculated from the first establishment of the oldest stone calendar called “Inzalo Yelanga” as told by Babu Credo Mutwa, commonly known today as the Adam’s calendar in Mpumalanga South Africa and the oldest written one called the Dendera calendar in Egypt/ ancient Kemet.

The first calendar was based on the movement of the Moon around planet earth. The Moon is the fastest celestial body orbiting our planet. It takes 28 days for the Moon to complete its cycle around our Earth. From New Moon to Full Moon is fourteen days and from full Moon to New Moon is Fourteen days.

Thirteen of such revolutions completed the Afrikan year. The lunar cycle was also used for agricultural purpose, by timing the periods for planting and harvesting, and to assist the king on timing the yearly sacred rituals.

INZALO YE LANGA

The Moon cycle proved to be too erratic to predict with certainty about its position. It was then decided to also compute our movement around the Sun.

That resulted in a year comprising of 12 months of 30 days, making a year of 360 days. The other five days were assigned as “birth” days of our first spiritual ancestors Asar/Osiris, Auset/Isis, Hara/Horus, Sete/Set, and Naphtah/Nephtys. One revolution of our planet around the Sun makes one day of 24hrs (12hrs from sunrise to sunset and 12hrs from sunset to sunrise).

The Solar year in the southern hemisphere begins in September on the day of the spring equinox and ends in August. It is comprised of four seasons; summer, winter and their intermediaries spring and autumn. The solar transition through the imaginary line of the equator starts on 21-23 September as the Sun completes its journey from the northern hemisphere.

6 SIGNS YOU'RE TALKING TO A SCAMMER

As spam phone calls are on the rise, learn how to tell when you're being scammed

1. Odd-looking phone number

Be highly suspicious when the area code is +26. It appears domestic but is actually associated with foreign countries. Unless you know someone from these countries, odds are it's a scam call.

Plenty of fraudsters are domestic, but they use foreign numbers.

2. Delayed greeting

If you answer but the person on the other end doesn't respond right away, chances are they used an automatic dialer.

You'll hear nothing, clicking or a series of tones before an actual human gets on the line. "Scammers make countless calls, hoping a person will answer, and when someone does it takes them a while to respond."

3. Caller can't communicate

It's one thing to have an accent, but quite another to have virtually no command of the local languages or any of the local slang.

Legitimate companies don't use foreign call centers all the time, but when they do, the employees are vetted. If the person can't piece together an understandable sentence at all and is telling you he's from a reputable company, you're right to be highly doubtful.

4. Caller says there's a problem with an unknown account

A sure signal that a scammer has reached you is if they say there is a problem with your credit product or utility provider – but you don't have an account with that company. At first, you may be confused and wonder if it could be for an old account you've forgotten about. Don't take the bait.

5. The tone of the conversation becomes heated

At first, the person you're speaking with may sound normal, so you won't suspect anything is wrong. Yet when it starts to seem off and you question the nature of the call, the so-called representative becomes irritable. It's an intimidation tactic and a major red flag.

"An uninvited phone call where the person becomes hostile is a reason to hang up. "It is also a reason to block that number to prevent that person from calling you again.

6. You have to identify yourself

No, you don't. That person called you, so they should know who you are. If they tell you to provide personal data so the conversation can continue – especially your name, ID No., address and account numbers – you're on the line with someone hoping to bilk you.
